

Midsummer has arrived with July and the appearance upon the scene of action of the "Glorious Fourth" has struck the signal for the July exodus of society folk.

They have indeed "folded their tents like the Arab and as silently stolen away." A few nights ago residence streets in Richmond were a-flutter with girls in the prettiest of summer gowns, the soft summer twilight was blue with the music of youthful voices and sweet laughter; now comparative quiet reigns, and the wearers of pretty gowns have betaken themselves elsewhere until the autumn calls them home again.

The seashore and mountain resorts have blossomed into gay, extensive Virginia, Packer and Wiltshire Beaches, Ocean View and other Virginia seashore places, being now in the heyday of summer existence, August is the banner month for the Greenbelt White Sulphur, but at Warm Springs, Old Sweet Springs, Natural Bridge, Rockwell, Blue Ridge Springs, the Gold Sulphur and dozens of other Virginia places equally well known, Richmond girls are now leading the indoor and out-of-door gayeties that make the distant attractiveness of mountain resort social life.

West Franklin Street, will be the scene of a pretty midsummer wedding celebration on the evening of July 11th, when Miss Sadie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rice Smith, is to be married to Mr. Elliott Bates, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C.

The wedding date for Miss Virginia Randolph Bolling Hoge, of Leesville, Ky., to the Marquis San Germano, of Rome, Italy, a subject of much interest to hosts of the bride's friends and connections in Richmond, has not yet been decided, but there now seems a probability that August will be the bridal month. The young couple have had all sorts of pretty parties given in their honor in Louisville. They will remain in the United States until November next, and will come to Richmond before their departure for Rome, where they will take up their permanent residence.

With the exception of a few very hot days, the summer weather has proven very comfortable, and the stay-at-home contingent has arranged a programme of pleasure for itself that promises to invest city summer life with a charm of variety and spice, taking from it all suspicion of monotony or lack of interest.

Courting Cool Breezes.
For those who desire the change, the light unconsciously brought back the splendor of the halcyon days before the war, those days that all true Southerners in their heart of hearts revere, and looking down the hall one could almost see "Meh Lady" and in the joyous laughter recognize "Meh Lady."

Second Annual Musicales.
The second annual musicale of Mrs. W. H. Lucy's mandolin and guitar class was given Friday evening, June 29th, at Central Young Men's Christian Association Hall.

The hall was filled to overflowing and the programme was exceedingly well rendered, each number being received with appreciation and hearty applause.

The vocal selections by Miss Clara Tompkins and Miss Everett Perkinson, and the recitations by Misses Mamie Ryall and Maggie Bryant, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Everett and others of the Keswick social colony.

Mr. Charles W. Kohlman, recently appointed commissioner-general of the Jamestown Exposition, has been the guest of Mrs. Mayhew, at Monticello. He will sail for Europe next week to visit the different European capitals in the interest of the exposition.

Concert Postponed.
On account of illness in the home of Miss Mabel Sims, her purple final concert has been postponed until the fall, when it will be given in her studio, No. 123 Grove Avenue.

Miss Sims is much pleased with the earnest and enthusiastic work done this season by her class, and in the fall an excellent programme will be rendered by the following pupils:

Miss Florence Ward, who has completed the senior course, and will next season apply for graduation; Miss Cornelia Magill, who is to enter the senior grade; Misses Lucy Gwynneth, Edith Morehouse, Beulah Pond, Grace Sims, Emma Puller, Elizabeth Gaines, Julia Goode, Margaret Egan, Margaret Phillips, Daisy Gillespie, Lucille Gillespie, Kewha Saville, Mary Saville, Janet Montague, Margaret Crump, Sarah Crump, Virginia Sims, Angie Sims; Messrs. Clinton Boyd and John Gwynneth.

Salmagundi Party.
The most brilliant social event of the season occurred last Tuesday evening, when the Misses Preston, of Seven Mile Ford, Va., entertained in honor of their guest, Miss Katharine Stuart, of Abingdon, Va.

In spite of the inclement weather every invited guest made it a point to be "present" at 8 o'clock, anticipating the royal entertainment to be tendered them and loath to miss even a small part of it.

The guests were received by the Misses Preston, assisted by their mother. After their arrival delicious tea was served and the commenced the play, which had been fully to have attempted the selection of the deserving one.

After the conclusion of the game, refreshments, consisting of chicken salad, peanut sandwiches, beaten biscuits and olives were served to the guests as they discussed the relative merits of dominoes and parchesi.

The beautiful old Colonial home of the Prestons never sheltered a merrier assemblage, nor a happier one. As one entered the large hall and was welcomed by the hostesses it required no extraordinary imagination to see visions of the long ago. The beautiful old portraits and antique furniture seen in the shadow of the hall and the music to be heard in them offer amusement to many. After the day's work is done, it is indeed pleasant to be able to court cool breezes, at enough of a distance from the bandstand to render the music an agreeable factor, rather than an interruption to conversation.

The Reservoir, the Casino and Idlewood are all open in for those who desire a more extended range of observation and experience during evening hours. Parties of friends enjoy little excursions to these places instead of the stereotyped parlor call, the ride on the car and the walk around, or visit to the theatre afterward, diverting the mind and offering a pleasant variety in the way of a hostess paying her summer dues.

Probably, however, the nicest form of entertainment that comes into the mind of the hostess is the piazza party, which is so characteristic of Richmond society in July.

There is an atmosphere of good comradeship and informality about these summer piazza gatherings that make them harmonize with the season.

An adjournment from the piazza to the dining-room for a fruit or melon supper, before the hour for good-night comes, is a crowning feature to such social assemblages that infinitely surpasses the more formal teas and receptions of autumn and winter.

Graves-Pasaday.
The wedding of Miss Minnie Pasaday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Pasaday, to Mr. C. Graves, of Camden, New Jersey, was celebrated at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, in the home of the bride's parents, Dickinson Avenue, near Oakwood, the Rev. Arthur D. Davidson, of Manchester, officiating.

The bridal procession entered the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, to the strains of this wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Miss Beatrice Brauer.

Miss Amanda Pasaday, sister of the bride, groomed in white silk and carrying pink carnations, attended the bride as maid of honor. Mr. George Pace was the groom's best man.

The bride wore a gray traveling costume with gray hat and gloves. Her gown was white carnations. After the marriage an informal reception was held for the bridal party, the family and a few intimate friends.
